EDICATION

To Our Parents . . .

At last we are seniors . . . and each year was better than the last! We've had our share of the fun, the quizzes and tests, bluebooks, parties, and classes. We have had help all along the way, though, from our friends, teachers, advisors—but most of all, from you. You are responsible for our graduation; you instilled in us from early childhood, the desire to learn and to achieve. Through this dedication, we are trying to express our deepest appreciation for the interest, cooperation, and love that has been such a vital part of our college life.

Phi Beta Kappa was founded at the College of William and Mary on December 5, 1776, as a society for intellectual and social intercourse. Since that time the Society has extended over the United States and has become the most eminent as well as the first of existing honor fraternities. The 171st Anniversary of the founding was celebrated in the Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Building on December 5, 1947, with a poem by Allen Tate and an address by Walter Lippmann.

THE MORTAR BOARD

Mortar Board, the first National honor society for women, stands as an inspiration to all underclassmen. Founded in 1918, the local chapter was founded in 1928.

The purpose of Mortar Board is to "provide for the cooperation between societies, to promote college loyalty, to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women, to maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college women."

In the spring, the outstanding Junior women are tapped on the basis of service, scholarship, and leadership in campus life. As members of Mortar Board, those women carry evidence of a well-rounded college life carried out successfully.

The organization assisted with the fall orientation program, continued the tutoring bureau, sponsored the annual Harvest Moon Ball, entertained the nearby chapter at Westhampton College, sponsored cultural trips to Richmond, and initiated a new movement by having a spring training program for campus officers. They also served as hostesses at receptions, gave a "smarty party" for ten students in each class having the highest scholastic average, and a scholarship plaque to the Sophomore with the highest scholastic average.

Omicron Delta Kappa is an honorary leadership society, founded at Washington and Lee University in 1914. Eta Circle was established at William and Mary in 1921. The Society is national in character, having circles in fifty-seven colleges and universities.

The purposes of ODK are to recognize men who have attained a high standard of efficiency in collegiate activities, to bring together the most representative men in all phases of collegiate life, and to bring together members of the faculty and student body on a basis of mutual interest and understanding.

ODK recognizes eminence in five phases of campus life: scholarship; athletics; social and religious activities; publications; and forensic, dramatic, musical, and other cultural activities.

John Edwin Pomfret, president of the College of William and Mary for the last six years, has been instrumental in raising the scholastic standards of the College. In addition he has expanded its facilities, in both Williamsburg and Norfolk, to take care of the present post-war enrollment, which is the largest in the history of William and Mary.

BEAUTY CONTEST JUDGES

In unusual formality the seven first classmen, composing the Howitzer Board for 1948, at West Point, assembled to judge the COLONIAL ECHO's beauty contest. It wasn't an easy job—and "job" is not a good word for such a pleasurable undertaking. With Board solidarity rent asunder by a mathematically precise voting procedure, the close decision is indicative of the problem of selecting a "first" and "second" from such a bevy of beauties.

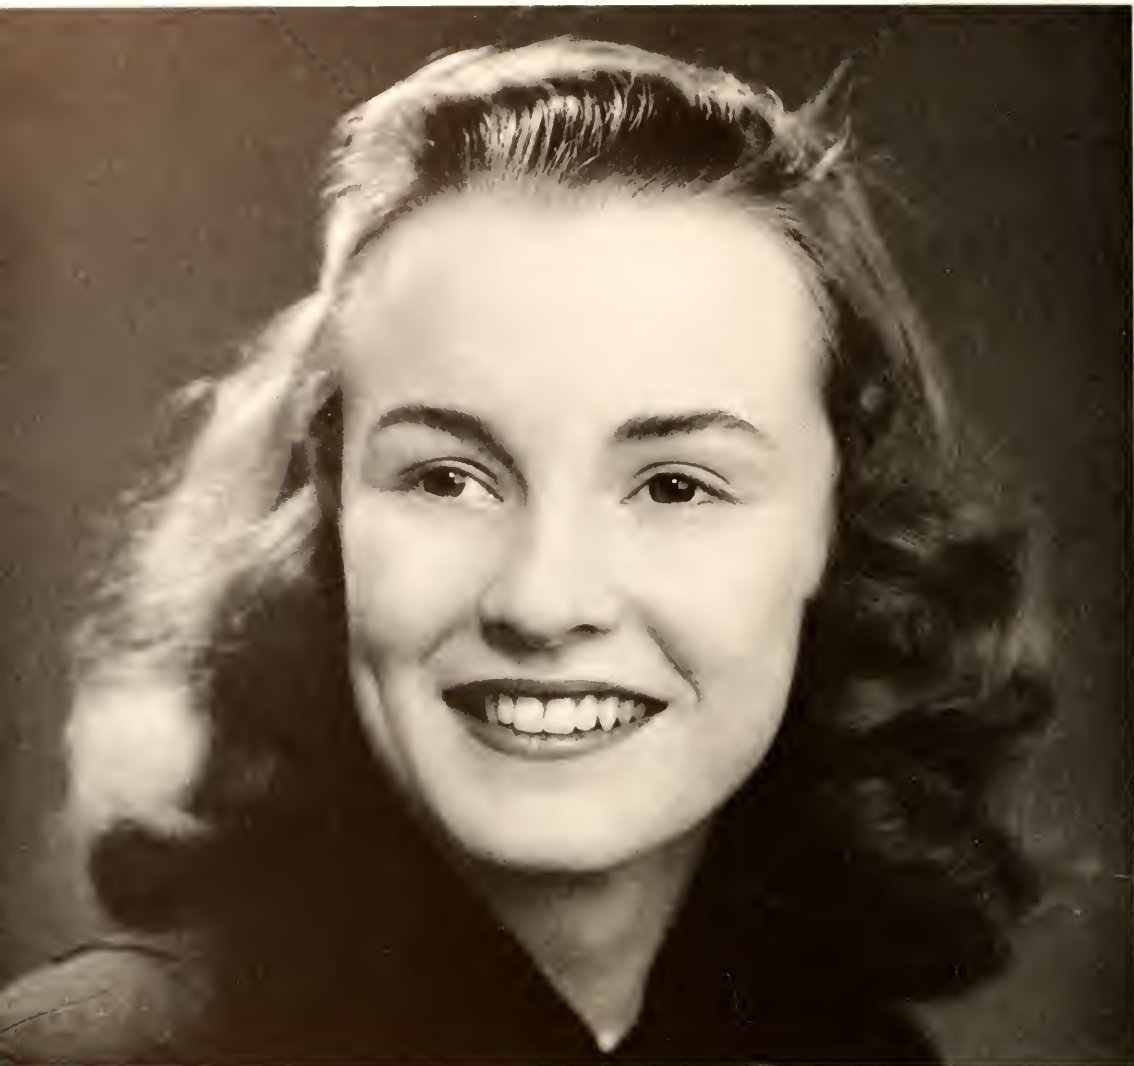

The day came—rare formality—a contest to be judged. With sliderules and guesstimates we set out! Beautiful women—eight "queens"; eight "Firsts." We integrated, re-integrated, and then applied the variables—seven personalities of the judges. A contest judged—a more than difficult ranking of these belles—a wonderful time—dismissal. Best decision: invite them all up!

THE PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

The main functions of the Pan-Hellenic Council are to compile rushing, pledging, and initiation rules for the sorority women on our campus. It also endeavors to cooperate with the National Pan-Hellenic Congress in maintaining high ideals of scholarship and fraternity service as well as in strengthening inter-sorority relations.

The Council is composed of two delegates from each of the nine sororities. The officers for 1947-48 were: Virginia Whittemore, president; Alice Baxley, secretary; Nancy Hynson, treasurer; Nancy Adams, social chairman. The Faculty Officers of the Council are: Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts and Dean John Hocutt.

Dances and faculty receptions are sponsored each year by the council as well as the annual award of the Pan-Hellenic plaque for the sorority whose pledge class attains the highest scholastic average.

CHI OMEGA

Dear Diary:

This is my reminiscing day. The climax of four years leaves us with a horseshoe brimming over with many memories.

There's Jeanie stepping out of the cover of Mademoiselle to collect cleaning for Buddy . . . Babs' eternal "I'll be down in a minute, Joe" . . . Elaine, I'm not at home, Campton, our house-electrician . . . pins and serenades . . . 11:00 nyeah . . . Nancy swearing that marriage is the only thing . . . Diminutive Callie purring over the phone . . . Beatty paying the price of being an orchestra widow . . . Hookie with peanut butter from Purdue and sweaters from Pi Kappa Alpha . . . cow club . . . stinky pinkies . . . Bette Hotopp, pinned for a night . . . Pott's Dr. Denims for her secret love . . . Peggy, our original gloot maker . . . steak dinners to Bob from Melon . . . Nat deserting ranks for Cavalier country . . . Skippy looking shocked at Benks' progressive ideas . . . Robert E. Lee . . . strains of "Near You" . . . Becky, the knit wit, finishing size twelve socks at 2 a.m. . . . Lucy putting that "indiscreet" look on reserve . . . Elaine living on memories while hubby's in Alaska . . . God's gift to Bell telephone, Randy, keeping Morgantown wires sizzling . . . bathtub dunkings . . . marmalade shampoos . . . Libby torn between Princeton basketball and W&M tennis . . . P. W. fan Bertie immersed in Emily Post's advice to brides . . . "Vivacious" Lois emerging from the Echo for trips to West Point: Hot dog! . . . Cupid's little helper, Mrs. Lambeth, establishing a temporary porch blackout.

We'll sing your praises through the years, remembering you.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Hello! Won't you make a Cook's tour of the Theta House with us. We step into the living room and there are our three engagees . . . Nora, Betty Ellen, and Harriet with their accessories, Joe, Danny, and Harold. At the piano is Mary Virginia, piano prodigy in action, while Betty Kelley, Stoot, and Shirley Lyons look for "a fourth someone pul-lease." That's Mary Minton in the corner wrapping bundles for Britain, Roger, that is; while Ginger and Weezie are telling their fabulous tales of gay Mexico.

That's Jane Seaton in the sun room, listening to the Be Bop records and knitting argyles for Bill, Bob, and Staff. What's Jeannie Bevans doing? She's dreaming of swimming pools and the army. Ruthie Maroney wins all the jitterbugging contests, hands down.

Theta kitchen? That's Hirschy and Coleman brewing their daily gallon of coffee. Peg Ballentine's leading the discussion on World Federalism. The gal with the southern drawl? That's Janet Pierce. And Robbie's running a close second with a drawl and sharp repartee combined.

Barbie and Chubbie sporting Dave's and Cy's pins respectively. The sun tan? That's Nancy Laughlin ever in the clouds, floating down to meet Leo.

Ruthie Barnes, our strawberry blonde spends most of her time on the tennis courts, but Nicky Dillard will be glad to answer questions, she knows all the answers. That whirlwind was Sue Green trying to get her dates straight. Marsha "Mac" divides her time between the P.O. and meetings.

In all rooms, our 13 wonderful pledges. This completes the tour of the Theta House, 1947-48 . . . the best year ever!

Peeping through the keyhole . . . not usually advised . . . in our case may be wise! . . .

6:30—"Paper-Route" Morgan (minus her paper route) rounds up the breakfast club. . . .

7:00—Action starts in Kappa house: Jackie and Blackie going to bed cause traffic jam as others (well a few) arise. . . .

8:00—"Kitty-cat" Wadsworth returns to awaken the second shift. Helen concentrates on compiling her daily schedule. . . .

9:00—Water poured on Humphrey. Can we help it if she's water-repellent?

10:00—Belford examines mail . . . Hattie sweeps cigarette butts off porch. . . .

11:00—Tuga arrives for her pre-luncheon chat. . . .

Noon—Elly Duvoisin at the piano . . . Audre combs the hometown paper for a picture of THE Judge. . . .

1:00—Norman and Sibley collect mail, read paper, cast disparaging remarks. . . .

2:00—Elly Hughes contemplates a nap . . . Nancy Morton goes home (all the way to Chandler Court). . . .

3:00—Nancy Hart waiting for Lyn . . . Mary Stanton and Jean off to look for their athletes. . . .

4:00—Sidney and Lou go to Choir (they have voices even if we don't). . . .

5:00—Millie and Ostie discuss another summer of travel. . . .

6:00—Phyl meets Howie, "The Whistler," for dinner. . . .

7:00—Brower and Bill looking for a couple for bridge. Bobbie and Tommy answer the call. . . .

8:00—Janie and Whitey join Rappy for the chorus of "Serenade in Blue." . . .

9:00—Marni does take-off on Cass Daley much to our amusement. . . .

KAPPA DELTA

Excitement and fun plus was the welcome on the doormat for Kappa Delta this year—a house full of seniors—ten wonderful new pledges—and week-end get-togethers. Homecoming—football games—and intramurals supplemented by those front porch ping pong tournaments, Home-cooked meals at the house, and October's hay ride to Yorktown—Bettie Pace, our Phi Bete.

Robbie planning on a June wedding, and June doing the same . . . with Ruth, Jackie, Shirley, Jeanne Marie, Libby, and Elaine balancing out the rest of the summer. Audrey and Ernie "studying" in the library . . . Ty looking forward to those "long" long-distance calls, and Dee pinned to Carl. The knitting, crocheting, and needlework bug seems to have bitten everyone. Ann and Jean specialized in socks of all varieties for Em and Ralph, with Mac running them a close second . . . Gin and Jane making Bob and Clyde Christmas sweaters while consulting with Dee as to "size" of Carl's socks. Lois going to Oklahoma for Christmas, and Ev with two homes in Portsmouth.

Our Christmas party with Santa Claus portrayed through the ages, and June making a very able one . . . Mom Prouse presenting us with a lovely mirror. Valentine's day with our formal dance started the New Year out right, climaxed by the Spring picnic. Margo molding dinosaur heads and Sandy sketching pink elephants . . . Libby beating Dee to the draw on phone calls. Exams, midnight snacks, and those long, long discussions . . . all these added up to making the past year a grand one for Kappa Delta.

PHI MU

September found the Phi Mu's busily redecorating the house . . . We were surrounded by rug laying men and swamped by new chairs, rugs, and drapes . . . We needed a "Marshall Plan" to decide if Mimi and Bucky or Marie and Lou would get the sofa before the others came back . . . Helen (that sleepin' gal) ruling the roost this year . . . Homecoming found us cutting out scales for our mermaid . . . Bud down for the big weekend with a diamond for Ellie . . . since the Carolina game Winnie got flowers from Ted, then came back from Chapel Hill with his fraternity pin . . . That same week-end in November Marie and Lou exchanged rings in St. Bede's . . . Edna would be rich if she owned the Post Office and handled her mail alone . . . Even a mouse can't wake Nona . . . "Fourth for Bridge," Eustie's familiar cry . . . What would we do without Lois' long tales? Mary, alias Felix, enjoying Annapolis . . . Dolores cracking her "whip" over the pledges . . . Then Christmas vacation . . . some of us were snowed in, but managed to come back for the Phi Mu Snow Ball . . . Natsy and Reid showed us how to cut the famous rug . . . Betty came in on a cloud with a diamond from Abner . . . Iris getting the giggles when reading the minutes . . . Shirley, "Who called Richmond?" . . . Connie making singers out of us . . . The two Nancys from Chandler as quiet as mice . . . Prexy Betty Breed wearing the "new look" . . . Betty Oliver, our choir enthusiast . . . Joannie finally moving in the house . . . Mimi and Bucky looking forward to a June wedding . . . Our wonderful housemothers, Mrs. Pratt and Mrs. Fleetwood . . . A good year for Phi Mu.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Another red-letter year is over for the Tri-Delts, but before we go, let's take a backward glance at . . .

Homecoming weekend and our authentic-looking, blue-skinned mermaids. Fran, our busy, able and ever-smiling president. Gene, chosen by acclamation as our favorite leading lady. Cookie, Joyce and the inevitable "Gotta go to lab." Mollie keeping the rails hot between Billsburg and Crabtown. Keeno and her affinity for scissors. Theo, our delegate to the land of sunshine. Tish, Jane, Tooker and Hyns poring over the Bride's Book. Telephone for Gretchen . . . "Yea-yus?" Bonnie, Rosey and Janie, our cutie threesome. Hey there, Dotsy, how y'all? Helenette waving goodbye to Bill in February. Marg and Fran at their first-floor listening post. Claire keeping the Morris House jumping. Stu and her knitting needles in competition with Madame de Farge. Ruthie, our hula hula gal, accompanied by versatile Patty Lou on her "gi-tar." Liz, Jim and phys chem . . . the eternal triangle. Johnny, you're just Wright for me. Hildah, the Tri Delt alarm clock. Jody, looking for that elusive lead story. Lucy and Joey, our graceful pair, doll-dancing with Holly at the piano. Let's have a solo from Ginger. Scotty, our modern Southern belle. Gracious Mamma Tig. And best of all, our fourteen wonderful pledges! The never-ending commotion at the house . . . ducking for apples on Hellowe'en, dessert and coke parties, bridge games, gab sessions, picnics, dances. The mystery of the disappearing card table. "Who's on kitchen clean-up this week?" "And then we had another cup of coffee." It's been a dizzy, wonderful year. See you in September.

The Fraternity Association consists broadly of every man who has been initiated into a fraternity at William and Mary. This large segment of the student body is represented by a central governing body consisting of the president and one other delegate from each fraternity. The supreme authority of the Association is vested in a committee composed of the presidents of each member fraternity. Acting as a legislative body, the Association governs conduct of the individual chapters, fosters beneficial relations among chapters, and functions as a link between fraternity men and the college, by providing a common medium through which to act.

Officers for 1947-'48 were Bill Norgren, Lambda Chi Alpha, president, and Corky Wampler, Kappa Alpha, secretary-treasurer.

THETA DELTA CHI

Our hundredth year on October 31, 1948 and ninety-fourth on the William and Mary campus! We celebrated with a fitting banquet at the Williamsburg Inn and a formal dance the next evening . . . The fall was typical what with the usual picnics, homecoming, and the float . . . they say that Ken is still dizzy, that Randy is a sadist, and that Rod and his committee did a fine job . . . Rush week seemed even more hectic than usual but it was worth it in the end as there was a fine crop of pledges to carry on the tradition . . . we'll never forget the beer party they gave us either . . . once again the fabulous eggnog party at the Inn, our annual party at Christmastime and with 35 gallons of eggnog . . . everyone enjoyed himself . . . Christmas and home to days of snow . . . January and back to days of exams! The departure of A. Ruxton Birnie, the institution within Theta Delta Chi! That harrowing weekend with Norm's visitation . . . Beckett finally making his grades . . . A snow-bound Saturday night at the Powhatan, but we didn't care . . . initiations in the Chapel . . . Randy influencing us to make Bobbie a beauty queen and she deserves it . . . Coffee at Jack's, Sam's, and Dick's with the Bluebird of Happiness . . . and that cat! The Spring Formal . . . those picnics at Yorktown with Gus' fondness for wading and vodka cocktails . . . Duncan, his Adler's and fondness for French Fried Onions . . . Perhaps Rawlings will learn what R.O.V. means . . . The anticipation of the Lodges and all the wonderful furnishings from the alumni! . . . "I'm dying Egypt, dying." . . . Two more weeks of exams . . . Finals . . . and Finis.

S I G M A A L P H A E P S I L O N

From every angle, the '47-'48 session looked good.

September found SAE back on the reservation following the return of 66 brothers to the fold. Anxious to repeat the stellar performance of last year's chapter, President Bob Sherry primed the SAE juggernaut for additional campus laurels.

Early to enter the limelight were footballers Bob Steckroth, Jack Cloud, Knox Ramsey, Tommy Thompson and Lou Hoitsma whose sparkling play led the Big Green to a Southern Conference championship. Paced by Bill Smith, Virginia Kappa broke all construction records with its Homecoming float. Thanks to Dick Adams and his alumni lodge, the gloom of placing only second in the parade quickly disappeared. Intramural Manager Bob Holley, Sig Alph's Patrick Henry, ably directed Virginia Kappa these past months in its fight for intramural athletic supremacy. Assisted by John Clauer, Bob deftly kept the Sig Alphas in the thick of the intramural fray.

Rushing this past year demonstrated the sane judgement of 32 men on campus who saw Minerva's light and came SAE. Dick Beatty, Brack McCaskey, Pat Indence, Jay Ball, and Bill Murphy, all stalwarts of SAE's closely coordinated musical quintet, sugared prospective pledges with their lilting rhythm.

Basketball found Brothers Holley, Green, and Bunting supporting the varsity. While with tennis, William and Mary was strengthened by the notorious, Fearless Fred T.

So let September roll 'round and once again the roar and tumult of the "make it a hundred" boys will echo and reecho throughout King William's, Queen Mary's, and John D's Billsburg.

Meanwhile, we'll all be making disastrous plans for a bigger and better Homecoming . . . Alumni, please note!

KAPPA SIGMA

Kappa Sigma traveled first class this year despite: Slaughter, Joe Parker, Plunkett, Hight, Bill Parker, Gleason, Hanson, and Woods renouncing interest in women; "Straight talk and beer" from Hyle and Ash; the quartet of Ascherl, Reinhardt, Maples getting "Baby out of Jail"; Gould's impression on the Hotel John Marshall; Davis exploiting Dean's list; Spillane riding coach and four to visit the fair Sharon; girls comforting Carter during Fran's absence; Lex behind the Eight Ball at Homecoming; Platt, our champion tankman; Ellison shaving twice daily with Kiley's "Shaving Cream"; "Muscles" Andrews and Radar observing quiet hour with footballs; Merriman and Cartwright wheeling Williamsburg wheels; Gordon's advertising "Joe's" at the PBK initiation; Buchanan peddling poor pictures at the theatre; "Snowplow" Wilbur with a big deal; "Hot Shot" Charles garbling the fraternity minutes; Jim Sutherland being paternal in the Alpha Chi house; Von Beren's refusal to eat more than six meals a day; Hegeman looking for a fourth instead of a fifth; Norfolk's Chamber of Commerce, Bill White; Clarence Clarke with the "new look" automobile; Victor Mark's dependability; "Bongo Bongo" Barksdale, his pipe and his drums.

Memories of the year . . . the Christmas banquet at the Powhatan, the buffet-supper and dance in the Great Hall, the Shelter party for the Wake Forest Kappa Sigs, rush week in the Wren Kitchen featuring the chapter combo and songs by Jim Boyce and the quartet, and the Spring dance.

Thus Nu chapter ends another year of activity and entertainment. As we look forward to September, we say to our Kappa Sigs wherever they may be,

"Alpha, Epsilon, Kappa, Delta, Beta."

KAPPA ALPHA ORDER

MEMORIES!! Yes, the year saw many of them; some were vague (about a fifth), some vivid, some sad, some glad. But through the dim of it—new look and all—the ole' third floor Monroe clan survived!

There was the "bang-up" time on the fall hayride and the bandaged ball game next day; the dance and those Spider women, eh Harper? Geddy and his fabulous "sea stories"; Scofield's one night stand of solos; the "Stashome" twins starring in the Imperial Bowl; "The Carolina Lost Week-end" by Nelms and Valentine; "Scratch where I please" Tyler's debut in the movies; the title bout with Hoxie vs. Willis; "I'll keep my pin" Angle yelling "rat" and taking revenge on poor, anemic Si; Waldo's gambling cassino; Old Fashion Foster vs. Bourbon Trueheart; the serenade starring Scrooge; Armstrong always Phil-ing great; "Kapper" Edward's oratorical ability; Galloway's love for cats and Elgie; disappearing acts of Jack Chandler and Odell; enjoyable morning serenades by the boys (did you say enjoyable?); Kelso's rush week speech-making at 5 a.m.; pretty boy Hewitt's way with women; "Just as I am" Harrison, "Fat Boy" Skipwith, "Baby" Doll, and Boudro forming the "I do as she tells me" Club; "Adeline" Adams turning poet laureate; Sprouse mad at practice; Pulleys and Bree vying for quiet hour honors; Man of Distinction O'Connor, Dapper Riley, and Handy-man Chisholm moving about; Drake's zoo; seldom seen Aston; Hardy's breakfast club; Miller's and Cornwell's week-end escapades; Luke and Isabelle—oops—I mean Brower; Marriage-minded Joe and Frank; and LASKY but not leasky, lovesick Duborg.

Who took those bricks to Jamestown??

PHI KAPPA TAU

Rush week in February, 1947, found us with twenty-six members. After rush week, we had grown to fifty-two. Then the Spring came and with it a beer brawl—the pledges doing the hosting. By Spring also, everyone was getting over the "No-Fraternity-House Blues," and the Great White Father was still in school—one or two other brothers were among the missing though.

By comparison, the Summer was a quiet one—what with Snaz and others taking a vacation and the ones here busy at The Common Glory and elsewhere. Six brothers attended the National Convention at Lake Wawasee, Indiana in June.

The Fall semester got off to a good start with nearly everyone back. We had a serenade on October 13—piano and all—in spite of the watchman. We also had a gala reception for Alpha Theta Alumni during Homecoming. The "Rose Bowl" would have walked off with fourth prize—if there had been a fourth prize. Rock's "Fabulous Fumblers" placed third (from last) in intramural football but Gene, Ken, and Charlie are predicting a much bigger season next year.

Rush week began with a party in Brown—Ronnie carved the ham and Dawson felt out of place serving cider—sweet, that is—while Dayton snowed eighteen prospects and brought home one (1) piece of bacon (his roommate). We added twenty-four pledges, thus swelling our number to sixty-eight.

The annual pre-Christmas Formal (what these bleary-eyed reporters saw of it) was the usual whooping success—thanks to the hard work of Dave, the town boys, and a group of pledges.

All in all, another bang-up year for the Phi Taus.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The College of William and Mary with its nineteen hundred students has embodied its trust in thirty-four, in which the chosen representatives are the middle men between the Student Body and the Administration.

The Student Government works thusly: The ideas, wishes and complaints of the Student Body are brought before the thirty-four members of the Student Assembly. The Student Assembly is vested with powers of procedure, to establish regulations governing all student elections and to act both legislatively and administratively. Through suggestions coming from the students, the assembly works on business ranging from committees on classroom tidiness to those on rewriting the constitution. The Assembly is constantly solving problems so as to benefit the majority.

The Assembly often does not have the constitutional power to make the final decision, so through its ten representatives, called the Senate, the business is taken from the Assembly to the General Cooperative Committee. The General Cooperative Committee or "General Complaints and Morale Committee," meets after each Assembly meeting with the President of the College and administrative officials.

This year the Student Government has been a successful one because of the student interest and participation which it needs to perform its functions.

ROBERT SHERRY
Chairman

MEN'S HONOR COUNCIL

In 1779, the men students of the College, believing that all students reaching the college level possessed the characteristics of honesty and integrity, founded the Honor System, first of its kind in any American University. The administrative details for men are handled by the Men's Honor Council which is not a governing body, but rather a unit which handles the task of investigating and trying reported offenses.

The members of the Men's Honor Council are elected by the Student Body, three members from the Senior Class, three from the Junior Class, and one from the Sophomore Class. Representatives this year were: Seniors, Bob Sherry, chairman; Tom Athey, vice-chairman; and Bob Hewitt; Juniors, Wally Harrison, secretary; Dick Beatty, and Warren Sprouse; and Sophomore, Clint Baker. Bob Sherry graduated in February and Bob Quackenbush was appointed to fill the vacancy. Tom Athey and Bob Hewitt were then elected chairman and vice-chairman respectively.

WOMEN STUDENT'S COOPERATIVE GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

SHIRLEY SPRAGUE

The W.S.C.G.A. was organized to further self government and student responsibility in the management of our affairs. The success of the three student councils depends upon each member's assumption of responsibility and cooperation in the spirit and ideals of the organization. Our aims can be accomplished only by the efforts of the women students to keep this association worthy of their confidence. Student government exists because we believe in it and strive to maintain it at a high level of efficiency.

Upon her entrance into college, each woman automatically becomes a member of W.S.C.G.A. Its work is carried on through three councils of elected representatives; the Executive Council, the Judicial Committee, and the Honor Committee. A faculty Advisory Committee, composed of Dr. Adair, Dr. Fowler, and Dr.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

Kurtz, Enos, Keeney, Beecher, Thedieck, Sprague, Graves.

HOUSE PRESIDENTS

Ellen Chairs, Jeanne Owens, Bettie Lee Rardin.

Taylor, is selected by the councils and meets with the Executive and Judicial Councils to coordinate the ideas of faculty, administration, and students.

The first Monday in the month is devoted to discussing the business of W.S.C.G.A. in meetings at Phi Beta Kappa Hall. This year the meetings have been efficiently conducted by the President, Shirley Sprague. Speakers are introduced, new legislation started, discussed by the women and sent on through proper channels, and announcements are made. Other members of the Executive Council this year were: D. Thedieck, vice-president; L. Graves, secretary; N. Kurtz, treasurer; V. Beecher, and M. Keeney, representatives-at-large; and S. Enos, freshman representative.

After setting a precedent two years ago, the president will attend the Central Student Government Convention or a similar convention again this year to study the student government organizations of other colleges, both large and small, throughout the country. This is hoped to strengthen our student government by obtaining valuable ideas from other campuses, and by passing on to them our ideas.

Orientation week in September was the first obstacle facing the Executive Council on the return to school. Thorough attention was given to instructing the women students in the policies and operation of their governments.

After the success of last year, an even larger success was planned for May Day this year, including a late dance on Friday night, concerts by the choir, orchesis, and inter-fraternity and inter-sorority sing, all reigned over by the traditional May Queen.

Each year the work of the council is laid aside, and the old and new officers get together for their three separate picnics in Matoaka Park, or at Yorktown. Also, in the spring a banquet is given at the Lodge for all the Student Government officers. These picnics and the banquet are memorable occasions for each member.

WOMEN'S HONOR COUNCIL

The Honor System adopted at William and Mary in 1779, is one of the most distinguished priorities of the college. It plays an important part in Student Government and in college life. It gives to the Student Body many privileges and entails obligations which must be upheld in order to gain its advantages. The success of the Honor System depends upon the full cooperation of every student.

The breaches of the Honor Code are lying, stealing, cheating, and failure to report an offense, which are punishable by dismissal from college. The council, chosen by the Student Body, tries the cases and imposes penalties which may be modified in certain cases.

In reporting the breaches, the student has one of two alternatives: challenge the offender and offer him the chance to resign from college, or report himself to the Honor Council. If he fails to do this, the council is notified. The accused is entitled to know the charge brought against him.

MARY LOUISE McNABB

Under the Honor System comes scholastic work and other phases of student life. It's a way to live in a college and each student must make it work.

HONOR COUNCIL

THE JUDICIAL COMMITTEE

The function of the Judicial Committee is to interpret the college social rules and to deal with violations of these rules. It is the duty of the Committee to deal with cases reported to it and to give a penalty in proportion to the offense. When a woman student is brought before the Committee she is given an opportunity to give her explanation to the Committee before any decision is made.

It has the responsibility of reviewing each year all social regulations and making suggestions for changes to meet current conditions, to eliminate undue restraint, and to clarify meanings of the rules. If revisions are accepted by both the students and the administration, they are embodied in the rule book for the next year.

Helen Thomson was Chairman of the Judicial Committee, with Jean Canoles as Secretary, Joan Felix as Junior Member, Marcia McKenzie as Sophomore Member, Elizabeth Graves as Freshman Member, and Marilyn

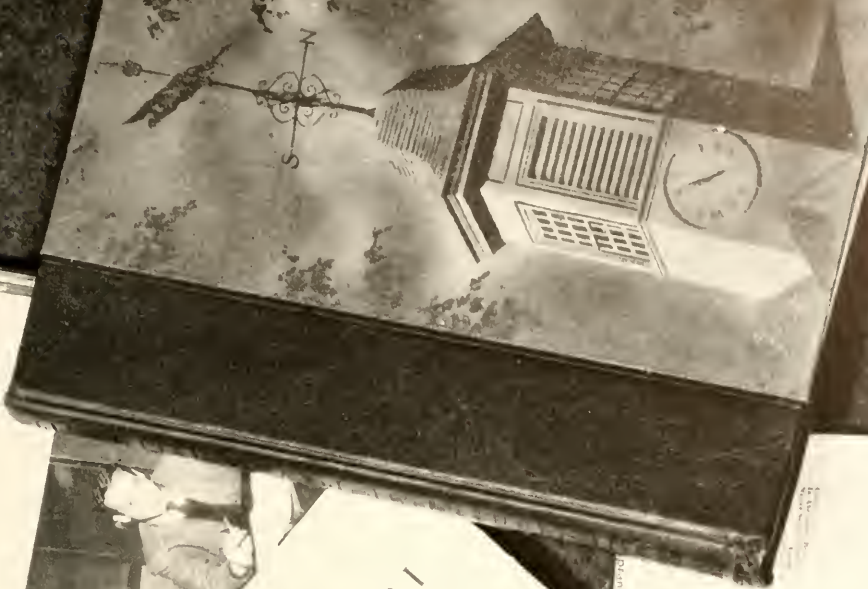

HELEN THOMSON

Allenbaugh and Nora Spann as Representatives-at-large. House Presidents of the large dormitories, also members, were: Jeanne Owens, Jefferson; Bettie Lee Rardin, Barrett; and Ellen Chairs, Chandler. The house presidents supervise the dormitories and have the responsibility of seeing that the house rules are carried out. Continual violators of the house rules are brought before the Judicial Committee.

THE FLAT HAT

Mollie Prince, Circulation Manager; Sam Helfrich, Business Manager

On Saturday afternoons in the fall most William and Mary students listen to or watch football games. In the winter most of them spend Saturday afternoon at the bridge table or the movies. Saturday afternoons in the spring are dedicated to partying and other aesthetic purposes.

BUT NOT THE FLAT HAT STAFF! These eager little beavers toil like mad (Editor Bud Jones, please note) to keep everyone informed of the happenings on campus. On Fridays, Saturdays and occasionally on the Sabbath, they work at the Flat Hat office. On Mondays and Tuesdays they labor at the Virginia Gazette where the paper is printed. On Wednesdays and Thursdays they study. (Dean Lambert, please note.)

JUNIOR STAFF EDITORS

First Row: Felix, Baxley, Campton. Second Row: Greer, Owens.

Jody Felix and Elaine Campton perform the two most important functions, news editing and make-up, the former often having to manufacture a semblance of news when the genuine article is not to be found and the latter always fearing that she will have to throw out three hours of work because of the discovery of a new 3x10 ad.

Bill Greer takes time out from his sports page to admire his harem girl calendar and discourse with Feature Editor Beverly Owens who often responds with, "But I don't understand that joke."

Satires concerning various campus subjects and assorted foreign topics were handled ably by one Ronald King, B.A. and man about town. Among his "gems of purest ray serene" were his two masterpieces, those concerning William and Mary's superfluous publication, the Royalist, and the "men of distinction" who live, stagger and destroy hotels, using their university of virginia as a base of operations.

Also holding forth on Page 2 was the cudgel-bearing Amazon, Lb. Moore, who attempted to reform the Women Students' Cooperative Government Association, the dance com-

THE ROYALIST

MARCIA MAGILL
Editor

With as modern an entrance into this year's college life as the "new look," and borrowing from the same fashionable trend to add an overlap cover and deckle edge to its format, came the 1947-48 Royalist. The hiding of the names of its contributors behind a strict veil of anonymity until publication time and the issuance of rejection slips were two professional traits employed by the literary magazine which functioned on Thursday afternoons between the "teatime" hours of four and six. The dusty footprints on Marshall-Wythe steps usually led to our office, third floor, where twenty of us worked hard, learned a lot, and talked endlessly, all of this beneath our most prized possession, the gold-framed certificate boasting THE ROYALIST'S second-place honors in the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association.

We had guardian angels this year in the form of the members of the English Department whose interest and help along literary channels steered much of the campus writing talent our way—particularly Mr. Melville Jones, into whose office we have dropped at one time or another to receive much-needed advice and encouragement.

The sentimentalists on the staff will remember proof-reading late at night, those bull sessions in a booth at the Greeks which settled pertinent welfare questions concerning the magazine, the two conventions at Richmond and Lynchburg, trips to the printer's when we "spoke softly but carried a big stick," and the mock fear which hung over us all that the printer might get his hand caught in the press—and the ROYALIST picnic in the Spring—oh, that picnic!

And there were those individual traits in each staff member which made THE ROYALIST collectively into a smoothly-running and competent organization . . . Beatty's pipe and humor, Nora's common sense, Willie's expert juggling of the exchange list, Jay's authorship of our now-famous rejection slip (you haven't lived until you've received one!), Peggy's bloodhound quest for those Lecture Leavenings, Patty Lou's feat of remembering all she reads without writing titles down, Pete's valid arguments, John's quiet yet radical ideas, meticulous Bethard's adding just the right amount of correct grammar, Nancy adding just the right amount of seriousness, Art Editor Sam's superb work and refreshing ideas, Circulation Manager Dayton's mad dashes around campus to peddle copies to all the dorms—and there was boss-lady Marcia, the energetic drive and efficiency behind it all. All this we couldn't have done without—nor without Chris, Kitty, Leslie, Stu, Betty, Doug, or Ann, our eager and capable newcomers.

The housemothers loved THE ROYALIST; the English profs read it from cover to cover—with comments; we even saw it being read in cafeteria lines, and those of us who gave large amounts of our time, intellect, and laughter in order to present your writing feel that it has been a good year, a good year indeed.

Another year—another COLONIAL ECHO—that sounds easy, but it took quite a time. It all started back in June of 1947, when Lois, as Editor-in-Chief, went down to Nashville to plan the 1948 yearbook—deciding on the cover and planning the layouts with Benson Printing Company. Back at school in September, the work began. Tryouts were held the second week, and the staff immediately started out to capture write-ups, take pictures, and organize them into the annual. Audre was always on hand to assist and work furiously on the third-floor of Marshall-Wythe. Many letters, phone calls, conversations, and hours of work produced this—the 1948 COLONIAL ECHO.

C. Warren Smith, better known as Smitty, has found time in the midst of his busy schedule of Choir, Politics, and his business on Richmond Road (P. A.—here's a plug) to do a grand job on the cartoons and his playful Indians which have almost become synonymous with the art of the COLONIAL ECHO.

"Get out there and get those Senior Cards." Those were the orders Mary Wilcox screamed to her harried staff; Anne, Henry, Skippy, Betty, Jean, Sally, Olivia, Janet, and Ruth. Back in the office these loyal workers and Bette, Carol, Dot, and Virginia madly typed and proofread copy for the class, faculty, fraternity, and sorority pages, trying to meet the deadline. Finally everything was off to the printers, and everybody heaved a long awaited sigh of relief. Such is life on the Class Staff.

"Organizations—didn't know there were so many, and where do those presidents hide?" became the cry of the Organizations Staff under Jean Foote, as they began to make up the schedule for club pictures to be taken this fall. Seems like everybody on campus is in an organization of some sort, or at least they come out for the pictures, resulting in the case of the unidentified man on the back row, who may even be a tourist for all we can tell.

Thanks to Johnny for her ever willing typing, and to Gretch, Terrie, Claire, Mary, and Ginny for being so patient when nobody would stand still long enough to take last names, and thanks to our freshman members, Adelaide and Dolores for their interest and help.

This year's Make-Up Staff has finally completed its task, Hallelujah !!! The usual number of peculiar write-ups were turned in along with those which were just twice as long as they should be, and those just half as long as they should be. Ed Ward's radio here in the office helped to let the staff keep their sanity. Cutting, padding, writing, and re-writing were just a few of the vehicles used by Make-Up to help give this year's COLONIAL ECHO the "new look," or at least to help it have a look of any kind. The main members of this jolly group were Ed, Sue, Martha, Ann, Nancy, another Sue, Jack, and Sibley. Thanks to you all from the head "cutter," Tuga Wilson.

Struggling to make the deadline on sports while still seeing all football and basketball games were Marv Atkins, Bruce Robinson, Jim Wesson and Bill Greer of the Sports Staff, who had plenty to write about during the year.

PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

The Publications Committee elects the editors of the three student publications, the business manager of the COLONIAL ECHO and the FLAT HAT and the circulation manager of the FLAT HAT, and, in addition, reviews the elections and appointments of other members to the various staffs. Holding monthly meetings, the committee serves as a board for hearing and acting on complaints concerning staff and organization and operation of publications. The Publications Committee has no voice in the editorial policy of any student publication.

The committee is composed of two faculty advisors, Dr. Douglass Adair, elected by the Student Assembly; Dr. D. W. Woodbridge, elected by the Student Activities Committee; A. Jones, editor of the FLAT HAT; L. Willis, editor of the COLONIAL ECHO; M. Magill, editor of the ROYALIST; H. Hyle, president of the student body; R. Carter, chairman and N. Dillard, secretary, elected from the Student Assembly.

PRESIDENT'S AIDES

H O N O R • • •

First row: Doll, Tyler, Macken, Wright, Bartzen. Second row: Simmons, Bateman, Mikula, Sherry, Scott.

Each year since 1935; men, who are outstanding in various phases of college life, are selected to act as aides to the President of the College. First initiated by the former president, John Stewart Bryan, each man was given a medal of recognition. The aides act as receptionists and escorts for the official party to college functions. They have sponsored the major college dances. President John E. Pomfret has made the selection of aides an honorary institution on our campus. The new appointments are chosen by a special committee for approval of the president. The following students are members of the present group: B. Macken, Chief Aide; L. Canoles, H. Hyle, B. Bartzen, R. Sherry, R. Doll, H. Tyler, T. Mikula, A. Wright, J. Hoey, C. J. Simmons, K. Scott, H. Bateman, and F. E. Clarke.

KAPPA DELTA PI

Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary fraternity in education, was founded in 1911 at the University of Illinois. Alpha Xi Chapter was chartered at William and Mary in 1927. Its purpose is to encourage high professional, intellectual, and personal standards and to recognize outstanding contributions to education. It endeavors to gain interest in teaching as a career and the theme for this year has been a study of the advantages and requirements of the educational profession.

This year's officers were Lucy Jones, president; Bill Council, vice-president; Katharine Rhodes, secretary; Lois Rilee, treasurer; and Vivian Deford, historian. With the capable assistance of Mr. Kenneth Cleeton, counselor, the chapter has expanded to twenty-nine members and is making plans for more active participation in campus life next year.

RONALD KING
President, Producer

Way back in '37, three eager, talented extroverts envisioned an all-student musical comedy, a show written, produced, directed and acted by ye young scholars at Williams and Marys. This trio formed the nucleus of an organization which took the name "Backdrop Club," a group devoted solely to the production of such a show. The first effort, in the spring of 1938, was Spring Cleaning, a spirited opus which delighted the student body and entrenched the Varsity Show as a top campus function.

Show number two, Set to Munich, was a take-off on a timely tragedy, the Hitler-Chamberlain pact. The following year, the Backdroppers switched to the revue-type musical with A Nickel Ain't Nothing, a tale in dance and song about the efforts of the Sultan of Pango-Pango to acquire a more desirable harem. Peace, Brother, It's Wonderful, the '41 offering, whose entire action took place in an igloo near the North Pole, managed to survive despite the inconvenience of having the romantic lead quarantined for measles two days before the opening. Life at W&M was given a whirl in the next epic, Take A Deep Breath. The story revolved around a group of vaudevillians stranded in Toano, and their plans to revitalize a certain nearby college which was on its last legs.

Came an entr'acte known as Pearl Harbor and the temporary shut-down of the V-Show. The gals and the remaining boys tried to keep the fires burning during the war, but discovered that the production required more manpower than Uncle Samuel had chosen to leave on campus. By the fall of 1946, when the turnstiles at separation centers were clicking merrily, the old guard trotted back to the Burg to beat the drum for the re-establishment of the Club and the Show. Well, the administration was willing; but the students didn't seem to savvy. Varsity Show? Oh, yeah . . . read about those things in an old Echo. The organizational meetings netted about forty members, work started on a script (by committees, of all things), a few assorted numbers and routines turned up, and when tryouts were held the students stayed away in droves.

Enter, exit Thanksgiving, Christmas, final exams, February . . . and just before the Ides of March the members suddenly remembered something about a show in May. With less than two months before production (and spring vacation nestled in-between), Jeanne Lamb and Ronald King set up shop in the Pi Phi kitchen to write the script. Producer Bill Smith coordinated all departments, assuring everyone that the Show was "the biggest thing since Seven Up"; Brother King (soon to be known as the "Dynamo") started turning out songs by the bushel; a genius appeared in the person of Wilford Leach, who took over the technical end of the show; Dick Beatty assumed the man-size job of music director, writing many numbers himself; Jean Cutler put the dancers through the paces; Sue Earls readied the costumes; Director Ken McGinn shouted "Places!"; and the show was rolling.

With six days to go, the cast and crews moved into Phi Beta for the weirdest marathon in the history of show business. Smith, King, Beatty, and others worked into the wee hours, writing additional songs and routines. Will Leach and a god-send named Howard Rayfiel headed the fast working crews. A few hours before the show, the last dab of paint and the last line of lyric were completed.

The result was "The Heat's On" (Mephistofollies of 1947), a revue with a thread of plot about a world-wide quest for damned souls to shovel the fiery furnaces. The Devil and his fiery nice assistant, Humphrey, tour such spots as Russia, Kentucky, New Orleans, New York, and South America to discover why more people are not going to Hell. They find the answer in Williamsburg, where the college students are positively saintly. The Devil changes all that.

Despite the rush job, "The Heat's On" was a fabulous success. The two-hour show lasted two and a half. Never was such hootin' and hollerin' heard in sacred Phi Beta Kappa Hall. Encores galore, deafening applause, riotous laughter . . . Even the pre-war faculty and housemothers admitted that this show beat anything ever seen at the College. For weeks the students were whistling and singing the songs from the show. The writers, cast and staff were just as amazed as the audience.

The following September, when the initial organizational meeting of the Backdrop Club was held, over two hundred lads and lassies answered the call. The campus was laden with talent; the Club was fortunate in retaining nearly all the production chiefs from the previous show; and the Backdrop treasury was overflowing with long green. It looked like another big year for the William and Mary Varsity Show. The Backdroppers had big plans, including taking the production on the road. One thing was certain: the script would include Nubian slaves, characters which have appeared in V-Shows down through the ages at W&M.

On the following pages are shots of some memorable scenes from "The Heat's On." For news and pictures of this year's show, see the COLONIAL ECHO, 1949.

This year's band took great strides toward becoming one of our most active organizations. The band played at home football games and made several out-of-town trips as well as being on hand for the pep rallies to play and lead the students to the bonfires.

The full band played for the regular Saturday dances in the Gym. The band split into two smaller combinations to play for the Sorority and Fraternity dances, as well as dances off campus. Robert Conkey led one of these groups and Ash Wiley, the other.

WILLIAM AND MARY CHOIR

One of William and Mary's show pieces is the Choir. This organization of 60 members carried the college colors out of Virginia in the spring of 1947 with a tour of southwestern Virginia and West Virginia. Play-wright Paul Green heard the group and contracted "Pappy" Fehr and the choir for his symphonic-drama "The Common Glory," which played to enthusiastic audiences during the summer. One enthusiast, Mr. Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times, commented that the choir was one "of Williamsburg's finest treasures."

For the Christmas presentation the Choir offered Handel's Messiah in cooperation with the Chorus and Singers. For Canadian-American Day Convocation the choir donned new robes and sang its heartiest for Prime Minister King, Governor-General Alexander, President Truman, and Governor Tuck.

When you think of glee clubs, you usually think of males giving out with "John Peel," but at the College of William and Mary there is a Girls' Glee Club. The girls are directed by Mr. Carl A. Fehr and in their white sweaters and skirts can easily out-glamour the most glamorous of their male counterparts.

Because of the limited scope of three-part music, the Glee Club combines with the Singers and the Choir for most of its regular concerts. With the Singers they presented a series of numbers in a joint concert during the spring of '48, and again joined all the choral organizations to present the "Messiah" at Christmas. Frequently the girls take over the music at Wren Chapel for the Wednesday night services.

So, hats off, you male glee clubbers to William and Mary's Girls' Glee Club.

T H E S I N G E R S

One of William and Mary's fastest growing organizations is the Singers, a mixed chorus of sixty voices under the direction of Mr. Carl A. Fehr. Their scope of vocal work runs all the way from Gabrieli to Gershwin which offers quite a contrast.

In the spring of '48 the Singers with the Glee Club presented their annual concert in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. On December 16, 17 the Singers joined the Glee Club and the Choir in one of the largest choral projects yet undertaken on the campus—Hendel's "Messiah." Even the theater technicians gave a hand in the production which was extremely colorful.

It is a great service rendered the College at Chapel services each Wednesday night when the Singers assist through the ministry of music. More concerts are being planned for this growing choral group—The Singers.

Debating the question, Resolved: That A Federal World Government Should Be Established, the Debate Council was able to uncover and work with information of vital importance to the present world. The Council, in addition to sending representatives to the various schools of Virginia, participated in debates all the way from Boston to Miami, and took part in the programs of the International Relations Club's conference here in November and the April debate tournament also held in Williamsburg.

The Council had a successful year, and was greatly aided by the cooperation of Dr. Charles O. Lerche, who kept the members' talents directed along the proper channels. Officers for the year were: James Carpenter, president; Herbert Bateman, vice-president; David Lindauer, Northern manager; and Edith Isele Southern manager.

COLLEGE UNIT OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS

The College Unit of the American Red Cross has striven to aid unfortunate people in the United States and abroad. At the local mental hospital a special class was set up under the direct supervision of Doctor Jones to teach students to be of aid in the hospital. Ours has been the first college unit in the United States to undertake such a task. At Christmas over seventy boxes of presents were sent to the Veterans' hospital at Phoebus. The Athletic department sent Coach Tom Powers to entertain the soldiers with W. and M. football movies, and as soon as the hospital completes its new theater, our college actors and actresses will put on skits there. Many notebooks and pencils were sent to students in European schools. Here on campus the Unit offered life saving and first aid instruction to the students.

A Big-Little Sister program is sponsored for incoming freshmen. There are monthly meetings which include interesting speakers. Two Chapel services are conducted by the Y.W.C.A. and picnics and dances are scheduled throughout the year. We desire a fellowship of the women students in order to promote campus activities, educate through interesting meetings, and sponsor worthy charities. A special effort was made toward bigger and better plans for this year.

The Balfour-Hillel Club is an organization of Jewish students on the campus devoted to religious, cultural, and social development. It is affiliated with the National B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations which provides means for more extensive activities. Hillel endeavors to link the student with his heritage while at college. In carrying out its program, the Club provides student-conducted religious services. At its meetings, guest speakers from the faculty and elsewhere lead student discussions on varied topics. Social events are always a source of enjoyment throughout the year. Since its establishment here the Balfour-Hillel Club has steadily grown, ever-increasing its program to meet the needs of the members.

The Wesley Foundation, Methodist student group, this year has reached a peak never before attained on this campus. Membership is 100 per cent greater than in 1946-47. Sunday morning and evening services with many guest speakers provide religion; parties and hayrides provide recreation; and regular Sunday suppers provide additional opportunities for fellowship and fun. Bob Burt, our new director, through his advice and guidance, has led us to new heights, and will lead us even higher. A new constitution has also added to the strength of our organization. THE CANTERBURY CLUB

Under the leadership of Herbert Tucker, the Canterbury Club carried on a program of Church work. In addition to the monthly Corporate Communion and breakfast, Holy Communion was celebrated in the Chapel every Wednesday morning and Choral Evensong every Thursday afternoon for Episcopalians on campus and in the community.

Social activities included a Christmas Tea Dance at the Inn and a spring picnic in the Governor's Palace Garden. Every Sunday evening the Club sponsored a program consisting of supper and speakers.

Frances Saunders served as Junior Warden, Anne Beekley as Clerk, and Mark Waldo as Treasurer. The Reverend R. S. S. Whitman, Associate Rector of Bruton Parish, served as Chaplain.

The International Relations Club carried on an active program this year, designed to stimulate the interest of the campus in important international issues. A series of speakers was obtained from the State Department and various foreign embassies, and club members conducted their own round table discussions.

In October the Club sponsored a conference here at William and Mary attended by delegates from colleges in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, and North Carolina. International Relations Clubs are sponsored throughout the country by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Officers were John Fritz, president; William Helseth, vice-president; and Eleanor Pendleton, secretary-treasurer.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

GERMAN CLUB

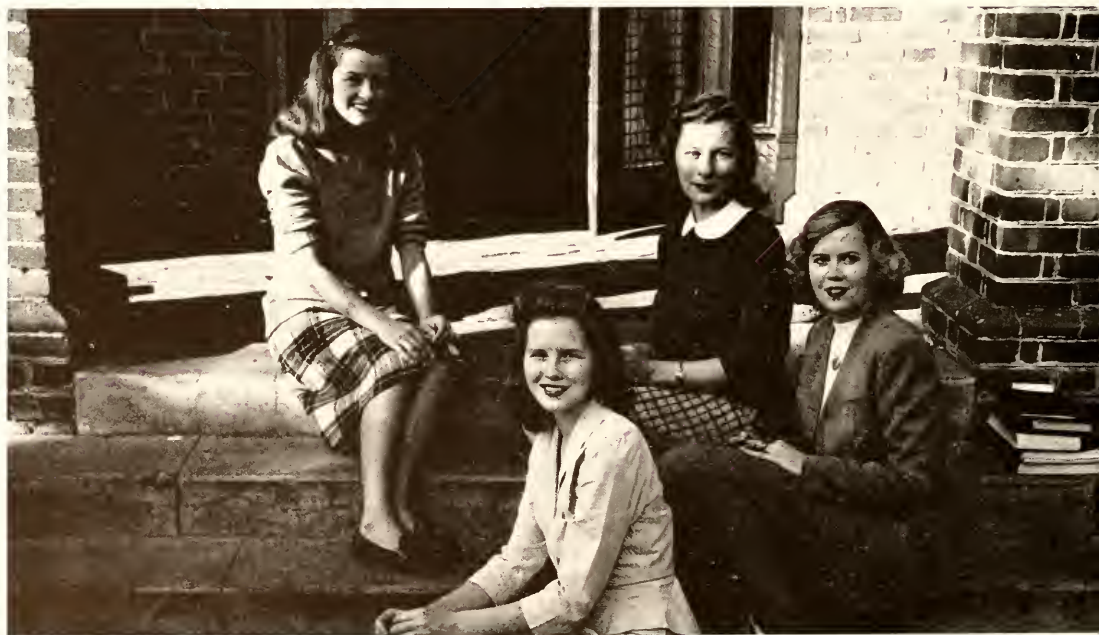

The German Club under the leadership of Lynn Graves has followed the plan orientated last year in order to give bigger and better dances. In this system, each girl, upon paying her dues, receives a card which certifies that she is an active member of the Club. During the sale of dance tickets these cards entitle their holders to the reduced price for German Club members. The continuation of this new system has greatly simplified the financial side of German Club activity. In addition to the bi-annual dances, the club sponsored dancing lessons in South American steps under the able direction of Miss Duffy.

The theme of the annual Christmas dance, sponsored by the Club this year on December 13th, was changed from the Candy Cane Coed to a brilliant Winter Wonderland. A huge billowy Christmas tree stood at one end of the dance floor, while the orchestra platform and the sides of the gymnasium were arranged with cascades of white snow-like decorations. The dance was semi-formal and refreshments were served during the intermission in the trophy room of the gymnasium.

The German Club boasts the largest membership of any girls' club on campus. The dances are chaperoned by the administrative officials, including Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. Pomfret, and Mr. Alan Stewart. Mrs. Pomfret is the club sponsor.

The German Club has been on campus for a number of years. Its purposes are to further the social life of the men at the college by giving two Coed dances a year. Girl "breaks" are the order of the dance and "hags" take the place of "stags" for these two evenings. The success and enthusiasm of the bi-annual dances rests upon the hard work of the decoration committee, the ingenuity of planning and the wholehearted cooperation of every member. Each German Club member is asked to contribute her originality and "workmanship" which adds to the success of these social functions which we hope are enjoyed by all.

CHEERLEADERS

Leading the organized cheering for William and Mary athletic teams was a squad of able and hard-working students who had charge of both the pep rallies which preceded the football contests and the cheering at the games. Head Cheerleader, Eddie King, led the team in the fall, with Warren Smith taking over after King left school in February. Other cheerleaders during the fall were Tom Athey, Billy Hux, Carol Achenbach, Shirley Green, Sue Hines, and Eleanor Grant, with Henry Isaacs, George Valentine, and John Spivey being chosen in February to fill out the squad. A junior varsity squad was also chosen as a part of an expanded program of team support through this medium. Jayvee members were Dee Curry, Nancy Hall, Martha Hogshire, Jerry Tuttle, Roy Jones, David Otey, Ed Pierce and Walt St. Claire.

PEP RALLIES

One of William and Mary's most spirited seasons saw frenzied pep meetings each Friday night before the home games, marked by references to "that starry-eyed idealist, Rube McCray," by such speakers as Dr. James W. Miller, and topped off by huge bonfires and occasional fireworks on the intramural field. Great interest was generated in meetings such as the one preceding the North Carolina game and the Dixie Bowl pep rally, which was later broadcast.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Ruben North (Rube) McCray completed his fourth year as athletic director and head football coach here this year, and his great grid season was rewarded by his being chosen by the coaches of the Southern Conference as "Coach of the Year."

McCray and his capable staff of assistants worked hard from the beginning of September with the football team, and their efforts produced some very worthwhile results which speak for themselves. Then the entire staff moved into other fields to help give the school a well balanced athletic program.

Football assistants included Barney Wilson, assistant coach; Eric Tipton, backfield coach; Tom Power, coach of centers and blocking backs; Marvin Bass, line coach;

Al Vandeweghe, end coach; and Al Thomas, junior varsity coach. Vandeweghe, an ex-Indian great, returned to W & M during the summer, and two other new coaches, Wilson and Thomas joined the staff then also.

Other members of the Athletic Association staff include W. S. (Pappy) Gooch, business manager of athletics, and Trainer L. A. (Dick) Simonson. Howard Smith, instructor in physical education, also worked as a member of the coaching staff.

The 1947-48 sports program was marked by strong football and basketball squads, increased emphasis on track, the resumption of swimming and golf, baseball under Marvin Bass, and a strong group returning from last year's National Intercollegiate Tennis Championship team.

1947 FOOTBALL TEAM

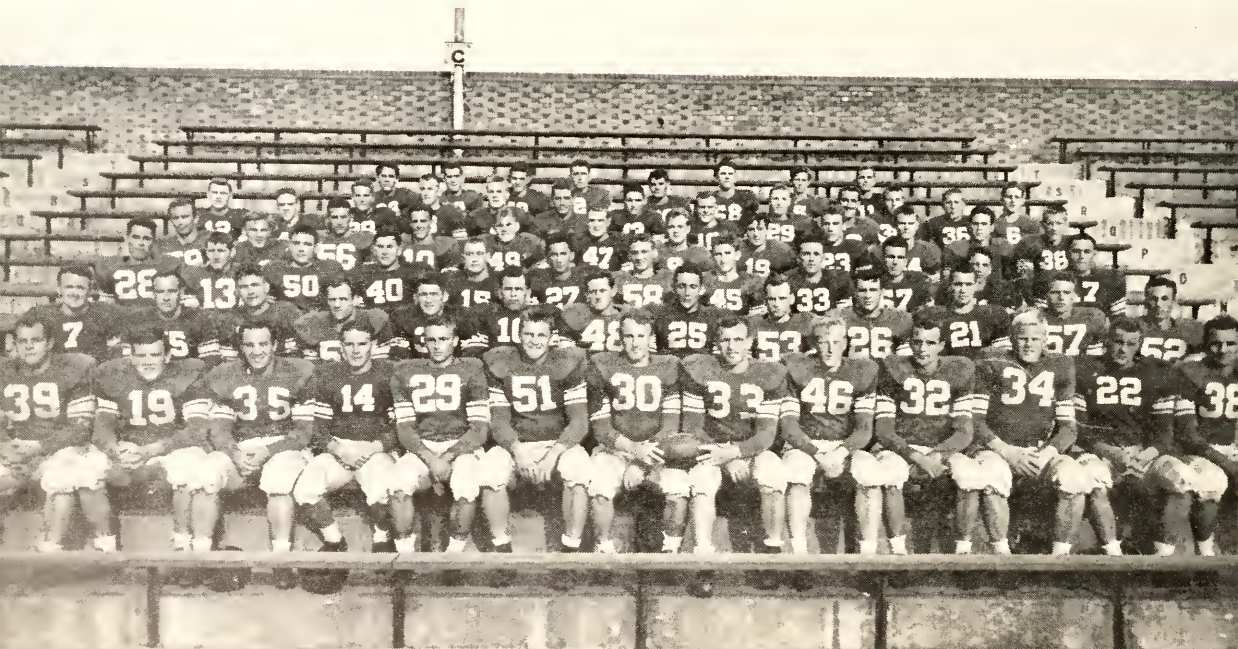

Perhaps the finest football team in the history of the College of William and Mary stalked the gridirons of the South and East during the 1947 season, as the Indians brought to Williamsburg the championship of the Southern Conference, a tie for the State "Big Six" crown, and a trip to the inaugural Dixie Bowl game played in Birmingham, Ala., New Year's Day. William and Mary won nine games and lost one during the regular season and dropped a heartbreaker to Arkansas, 21-19, on January 1.

Coached by R. N. 'Rube' McCray and led on the gridiron by Co-Captains Ralph Sazio and Bob Steckroth, the Big Green eleven received praise from all quarters for their fine team play generally, and more specifically for their great work in the line.

From end to end, the Brave line was one of the finest in the nation, ranking second among all college teams in rushing defense and total defense. The two co-captains, Knox Ramsey, Tommy Thompson, Red Caughron, Bill Saffo and Lou Hoitsma teamed up to provide the South's best line.

With Jack Cloud running wild and picking up 102 points in 11 games, the William and Mary backfield could hold its own in fast company, too. Henry Blanc held down the wingback post most of the season while Tom Mikula was the regular blocking back. The tailback post was filled by Stan Magdziak, Buddy Lex and Jack Bruce, and Tommy Korczowski, before he was injured.

AND THE COACHES

An able staff of coaches including two former William and Mary athletes worked with Head Coach Rube McCray to turn out the championship team. The staff included Marvin Bass, line; Al Vandeweghe, ends; Tom Power, centers and blocking backs; Barney Wilson, backfield; and Al Thomas, Junior Varsity.

Davidson's Wildcats, keyed up by Coach Bill Story and aided by eight men playing at home, gave William and Mary a good scrap for a part of the season's opener, a Southern Conference clash at Foreman Field in Norfolk. But the lighter and less experienced team from North Carolina was no match for the powerful Indians, and Coach Rube McCray brought a 21-0 scalp back to Williamsburg by virtue of three second half touchdowns.

The sluggish William and Mary attack finally got started about halfway through the third period when Tommy Korczowski and Jack Cloud showed they were every bit as good as in 1946 by spearheading a long touchdown drive which ended when the big fullback plunged over from the two for the first touchdown. Stan Magdziak promptly booted the extra point following the first W & M touchdown of the year. Early in the fourth period, Magdziak punted to the Davidson 10, and Lou Creekmur set up the second tally by blocking a Wildcat punt on the 16 which was followed by a 15-yard penalty against the losers.

The first team then went back in long enough for Cloud to buck over for the touchdown and Magdziak to add the extra point. Reserve Tailback Buddy Lex passed to End Dick Hungerford for 24 yards and the final touchdown of the afternoon. Magdziak kicked the extra point and the Braves left the field in a short while with a 21-0 victory.

Playing their first home game of the season against The Citadel's Bulldogs, the William and Mary team romped over the South Carolinians, 56-7, in a game played at Cary Field on October 4. Displaying power, deception, downfield blocking and most of the other things a good team should have, the Indians had themselves a field day against their outclassed opposition. Little Tommy Korczowski scored twice in leading the team to victory with his running and passing.

The Braves scored on the seventh play of the game after Korczowski had broken away on a 47-yard jaunt to the six two plays earlier. Magdziak booted the extra point, going on to kick every one of the game except the last one. Set up on a pass interception by Hank Blanc, the second tally came on a 23-yard pass play, Magdziak to Tom Mikula, a little later. A 48-yard pass play, Magdziak to Bob Steckroth, put the ball on the six, and Jack Cloud bucked over for the third touchdown a few plays later. Buddy Lex led a drive from The Citadel 35 for the next marker, and he went over to put his team ahead, 28-0, at halftime. Korczowski scored just after the half after he had passed to Blanc to put the ball on the five.

A 55-yard pass from Tommy, "The Kid," to Bob Steckroth on the goal line accounted for the next score. At this point, the reserves took over and Lex passed to Magdziak for a touchdown. A nice piece of running by Freshman Don Howren ate up 28 yards and accounted for the final touchdown of the Braves. Lex kicked the extra point. The fans saw in this game the biggest point total of the season to be scored at Cary Field, and the Indians saw in it their second Southern Conference victory of the year, by a 56-7 score.

A rebounding Virginia Tech eleven gave Coach Rube McCray and the William and Mary team and supporters in general some anxious moments at City Stadium in Richmond October 11, scoring in the first two minutes of play and holding the lead until near the end of the third quarter. Dick DeShazo grabbed a VPI lateral in the opening minutes of play and scampered 19 yards to pay-dirt. Ross Orr converted for the Gobblers. Neither team was able to threaten in the rest of the first half, although DeShazo attempted a field goal and failed.

Although the Gobblers played a scrappy and rough game, there was never any doubt of the outcome once the Indians started to roll. The Indian attack, dulled by Korczowski's injury which kept him out for the rest of the season, opened up like lightening in the third quarter. Henry Blanc took handoffs from Cloud to dash 26 and 19 yards for touchdowns, and Reserve Wingback Herb Poplinger scored on the same play. Magdziak added all three points-after-touchdowns for the 21-7 victory.

The giants of the Southern Conference, William and Mary and North Carolina, tangled in one of the most evenly matched games ever seen at Cary Field, on October 18. The Tarheels had lost two in a row to Texas and Wake Forest and were playing a do-or-die game, finally winning, 13-7. The Indians and the visitors played even, conservative football in the early stages of the game, but Carolina was able to forge ahead in the second period on a pass from Big Walt Pupa to Jim Camp, Bob Cox adding the point.

The Big Green came back in the second half, however, and powered its way down the field, with Jack Cloud bulling over to cap a drive which had covered 50 yards. Stan Magdziak added the point. In the fourth period, the Tarheels were able to cash in on the breaks and send Pupa crashing over for the deciding score. Later Indian drives proved unsuccessful, and McCray's team lost its only decision of the regular season, 13-7.

Playing their only game of the season outside the state of Virginia, the William and Mary eleven romped over Coach Buff Donelli's Boston University Terriers by an impressive 47-13 margin at Fenway Park in Beantown. That game moved many observers to class the Indians with the best of the gridiron teams of the nation. Again it was Cloud who paced the Redskin attack, although a number of players took part in the scoring. Little Henry Blanc set up the first touchdown with a 34-yard run, and Cloud ploughed over. Magdziak missed the placement attempt, however. Don Giles went over to tie the score for BU, but Lou Hoitsma blocked the placement.

With the aid of some excellent blocking by Bob Steckroth, Blanc sprinted 67 yards to score and gave the Indians a lead they never lost. Later on in the first half Cloud carried the ball from the 18 into the end zone in five plays for the third tally, and the final touchdown of the half came on a pass play from Buddy Lex to Vito Ragazzo which was good for 60 yards. Magdziak added the last three extra points. Cloud drove over for another touchdown during the second half, and Henry Blanc, who played a fine game all the way, looked good in scoring his second of the evening. Pat Haggerty treated the home-folks to a touchdown on a six-yard run in the closing minutes to end the Indian scoring, and Magdziak hit two out of three extra points in the second half. The Terriers were able to get across a touchdown in the final seconds of the game, and the conversion made the final score 47-13 in favor of the Braves.

Playing before a sparse crowd, the Indians nevertheless made a tremendous impression with the Boston fans and made an excellent name for themselves there.

The 21-0 score posted by the William and Mary Indians in defeating Wake Forest offers no indication of the very complete and definite beating the Indians handed Coach D. C. (Peahead) Walker's team on November 1 at Cary Field. The devastating style of football played by the Indians that day swept aside all opposition with seeming ease and more firmly established the Tribe as one of the foremost powers in the East.

The bewildered Deacons could do little to stop the onslaught of the Braves, and the W & M-WF game established McCray's team as one of the best of the year. Stan Magdziak started the downfall of the Baptists with a touchdown pass good for some 30 yards to Vito Ragazzo in the end zone midway through the second quarter. Magdziak also added the conversion, putting the Braves ahead at halftime, 7-0.

In the third quarter, Cloud showed that line bucking was not his only talent as he intercepted one of Tom Fetzer's passes and picked up his blockers to gallop 65 yards down the sideline for the second Tribe touchdown of the afternoon.

A little later, Henry Blanc took a reverse from Cloud and pitched a perfect strike to Bob Steckroth, who scored the final touchdown all by himself in the end zone. Magdziak once more converted to end the scoring for the afternoon. The victory over Wake Forest was doubly sweet for the Indians because the Deacons had beaten North Carolina earlier. The game was probably the best the Braves played all season, and was just about the way a game should be played.

Played before a Homecoming Day crowd whose attendance was cut by bad weather, William and Mary played well enough to run up a 28-0 lead at the beginning of the fourth period before a rally pulled Virginia Military Institute within eight points of the Braves at the end of the game. Stan Magdziak stole the show in the second quarter, slicing through the line on a 10-yard scoring run and passing to Vito Ragazzo on another play which netted 22 yards and a tally.

Jack Cloud broke into the scoring column in the third quarter with a line plunge, and Magdziak passed to Vito Ragazzo for the last William and Mary marker. Magdziak converted all four times. Passes by Joe Veltri led the Keydet rally which saw Jimmy Gill, Ray Tamalis, and Vince Ragunas reach paydirt, and Carrington kick two extra points. The Big Green had things well in hand again when the game ended, 28-20 in their favor.

Playing before representatives of post-season bowls and determined that the 1946 game should not be repeated, William and Mary went out on a sloppy gridiron at Roanoke's Victory Stadium and romped over the Generals of Washington and Lee, 45-6. In scoring four touchdowns that afternoon, Jack Cloud tied for the most points scored by a college player in a single game for the year.

While displaying an unstoppable offense, the Indians limited the opposition to a minus-five yard total in rushing for the afternoon. End Lou Hoitsma broke through to block a kick in the first three minutes of the game to set up Cloud's first touchdown of the day. Hoitsma made a brilliant catch of a 10-yard pass from Magdziak for the next score. Cloud scored his second touchdown on a pass from Magdziak, and then he added his third six-pointer of the day from the 16 after Hoitsma had blocked another General punt, and the Indians led at intermission, 26-0.

Just after the half, Cloud capped a 65-yard Indian drive with a touchdown plunge, his fourth of the day. The last two Indian scores of the day came on runs by Ed Magdziak, younger brother of Stan, who played a brilliant game. Stan converted for three extra points during the afternoon. Washington and Lee scored after the clock had run out, Jim Bennett intercepting a pass and carrying it the length of the field at the gun.

Bowling Green State University of Ohio, playing in Williamsburg just five days before Thanksgiving, gave William and Mary plenty of fight before dropping a 20-0 decision to the more powerful and numerous Redskins. The outcome was never in doubt, but the scrappy Falcons made the Indians fight for all three of their touchdowns. The visitors threw up a surprisingly strong defense against the W&M ground attack, but their aerial coverage and offense were not of the same calibre as those boasted by the Braves.

It was not until late in the opening period that the Indians were able to get across a score, which climaxed a 79-yard drive. For the initial marker, Bob Steckroth took a pass from Jack Bruce on the 10, shook off a tackler and went over standing up. After the Braves had been penalized 15 yards, Magdziak kicked the extra point from the 27.

Later in the first half, Hank Blanc took the ball and threadneedled his way through the Falcon team for a 25-yard scoring jaunt after Buddy Lex had returned a punt 40 yards. Lex missed the extra point. Lex went over for the last Cary Field touchdown of the year, and Magdziak converted to make the score 20-0, the way it stood when the game ended. While Bowling Green was not the largest or strongest eleven the Braves faced during their 10 games, the Falcons did field the scrappiest team on the slate.

Cloud scores against Carolina

William and Mary sewed up the Southern Conference championship on a percentage basis by dropping the University of Richmond, 35-0, in the traditional Thanksgiving Day game played at City Stadium in Richmond. It was the last time the W&M-Spider game was played on Thanksgiving, the contest subsequently being shifted to another date to facilitate schedule making.

In outclassing the Spiders, the Braves also tied for the State "Big Six" championship with Virginia, posting a record of four wins and no losses. It was strictly "no contest" in City Stadium, however, the Indians scoring early and often. Jack Cloud went over from the four for the first score in the opening minutes. Then the Indians took to the air to pile up a 28-0 halftime lead and be able to coast to the victory. Before the bombardment was over, touchdown passes from Stan Magdziak to Hank Blanc and Vito Ragazzo, and from Buddy Lex to Ragazzo had been recorded. Held scoreless in the third period, the Indians counted another tally in the fourth when Cloud plunged over from the one. Magdziak kicked five-for-five extra points that afternoon. Richmond threatened late in the fourth quarter, having the ball on the Indian one with first down, but when four plays had been run, the ball was on the Indian four and the game ended with the score standing at 35-0.

Co-Captains and Dixie Bowl Queen

Arrival in Birmingham

ARKANSAS 21

WILLIAM AND MARY 19

Playing the first annual Dixie Bowl at Birmingham, Ala., the William and Mary Indians played right along with the Razorbacks of the University of Arkansas while dropping a 21-19 decision. The 25,000 fans got more than their money's worth before the afternoon was over, seeing one of the best New Year's Day games of the year. The lead changed hands three times, and the winner was never decided until the closing whistle. Several William and Mary players starred, and among them were Jack Cloud, Buddy Lex, and the whole Redskin forward wall.

Coach Rube McCray's team drew first blood, scoring in the first few minutes of the game after a hard tackle by Ralph Sazio and Knox Ramsey had caused Aubrey Fowler to drop Lex's fine quick kick on the Razorback six. Cloud moved into the end zone in two plays. About the same thing happened again when Thompson recovered another of Lex's quick kicks dropped by Fowler, but W&M failed to score that time, a touchdown being called back on a penalty. Cloud scored once more to cap a 77-yard drive with just 18 minutes gone, and when Stan Magdziak converted to give the Williamsburg team a 13-0 lead, things looked good for McCray's men.

Two quick touchdowns put the Southwestern Conference back in the game, however, when Ross Pritchard grabbed a long pass and scored all alone, and Eckel Rowland intercepted one of Magdziak's heaves to score. Fowler kicked both placements. William and Mary moved back into the lead again as Lex passed to Henry Blanc in the end zone, but Magdziak again missed the point. Driving almost the length of the field, the Razorbacks sent 'Muscles' Campbell over for the score which decided the game, and Fowler converted again.

A late drive for the Indians ended when the Porkers recovered a Brave lateral on the Arkansas 15 and held the ball until the final whistle sounded. The Dixie Bowl game gave the Indians an excellent chance to show their ability outside the state, and they made a tremendous impression in Birmingham. Although the Braves lost, the Dixie Bowl game was one of the most important and helpful in the history of William and Mary football.

Coming to William and Mary in the summer of 1947, Barney Wilson, former director of athletics at Union College in Kentucky, took over the reins of the Indian basketball team at the start of the season and piloted the court squad through a fairly successful season in which it caught fire near the end and played right along with the best teams in the area. Led by Co-captains Charlie Sokol and Charlie Teach, the Indians found their winning combination near the end of the season and played some excellent games with the two co-captains at forwards, lanky Chester Giermak, high scorer for the state and conference, at center and the two perpetual motion midgets, Ed (Fuzz) McMillan and Jere (Baby) Bunting at guards.

The team did take a long while to get started and was hampered by a number of injuries, but all in all, the season was successful, with the record showing an even dozen victories against nine defeats during the regular season. Included in this record were eight Southern Conference victories and seven defeats in that league.

Playing in the Conference tournament at the end of the regular season, Wilson's team outscored Wake Forest, 61-56 in a thrilling game before dropping a 73-52 verdict to a superior North Carolina State five which went on to win the tournament and play for the National Championship. Besides the five who started in the final games of the season, outstanding players included Bob Holley, Buddy Lex, Johnny Green, Sherman Robinson, Harry Hilling and Dick Hungerford. The Braves were well conditioned by Coach Wilson, and the hard work the men put in showed positive results at the end of the campaign.

Starting the court season early in December with a trip to South Carolina, William and Mary's cagers out-scored The Citadel, 64-41 in the initial contest as Chester Giermak threw in 26 points to star. Although the rangy center added 21 more the following night, the Tribe lost a one-point, 51-50 verdict to Furman before returning to the Old Dominion. Hampden-Sydney managed to take a narrow 37-36 decision from the Indians in a game played in Petersburg under adverse conditions, but later in the week the Big Green five moved back into the victory column with convincing 51-33 win over the Cavaliers of the University of Virginia.

Just before the Christmas holidays in Norfolk, the Braves dropped a 61-52 game to Wake Forest in a sluggishly played match. After the return from the holidays, the Braves nearly doubled the score on Randolph-Macon's Yellow Jackets, downing that team, 68-35, then outlasting VMI to take a 53-39 victory over the Keydets in another game played in Williamsburg. Along about this time in the season, the team went into something of a slump and lost several games, although not enough to keep them out of the Conference tournament. The team lost to Virginia Tech by 59-41 and then fell before Washington and Lee by a narrow margin.

The team then got back on the victory path, defeating Richmond by three points and winning easily over The Citadel in Blow Gym before losing to George Washington, 60-45. Duke then defeated the Braves, but they bounced back to hand VPI its only "Big Six" defeat of the season and scare North Carolina before losing to that team, 63-61. Following a trip North, the Braves returned home to win over Washington and Lee and over VMI and Richmond for the second time.

Ten teams were invited to the 1948 Southern Conference tournament, since William and Mary finished in a tie with two other teams for eighth place in the league standings. Opening tournament competition on the first of four nights of play, the Braves electrified the 8,000 spectators at Duke's indoor stadium by staging an extremely spectacular rally to overcome the nine point lead Wake Forest had held at the three-quarter mark of the second half and forge into a lead of their own. Fine floor play and some inspired shooting helped the team to down the Deacons, 61-56. The next night the team met the ultimate champions, the Wolfpack of North Carolina State, and battled that team fiercely during the first half before finally bowing out of the tourney, 73-52. Jere Bunting, who score 34 points and led his team to two victories, was selected to the All-Tournament team, and his ovation when he left the floor in the State game was the greatest in the history of the tourney. Another All-Star was Chester Giermak, who made All-State and second team All-Southern, and McMillan, who made second team All-State.

Coach Howard Smith's Junior Varsity Basketball team had a reasonably successful season, winning six games and losing nine, with several of the losses being very close. The team scored 682 points to 588 for the opposition. High scorer was Bill Ozenberger, and other outstanding members were Paul Webb, Randy Mallory, Steve Siegert, Bob Benjamin, and Vic Janega.

William and Mary's great 1947 tennis team won just about everything there was to win in the world of tennis in going through their second straight undefeated season to run their victory streak to 41 at the close of the campaign. Dr. Sharvy G. Umbeck's team, not satisfied to romp over all opposition in dual meets, took the Southern Conference championship in a breeze and then went on to post an impressive victory at the National Intercollegiate tournament in California in June. Although he was beaten in the regular season, Gardner Larned took the singles championship of the nation's colleges as well as of the Southern Conference. And he teamed with Bernard (Tut) Bartzen to take the doubles title in the Dixie Loop.

The Indians started gaining recognition far back in the winter when Fred Kovalesski went to the National Indoor tournament in New York and promptly eliminated the veteran Frank Shields in a hard-fought battle, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4. He later bowed out of the tourney on a loss to Bill Talbert. That loss was, however, a fierce 12-10, 4-6, 6-1, 6-0 decision which was a battle from start to finish.

Starting out their regular home season in March, the Braves braved wintry weather to trounce Michigan State with no difficulty, and they disposed of Yale in an equally easy manner. Dartmouth cancelled out on William and Mary, and the team then smashed a visiting Princeton team, 12-3 in an extended match played in Williamsburg. Outstanding performance of that meet was Larned's 6-2, 6-1 victory over Bill Vogt, star from Princeton. Tulane provided the most excitement of the season for William and Mary followers by taking an early lead before losing to W&M, 6-3. It was the afternoon that Larned lost to Jack Tuero, Greenie ace seeded above him in the intercollegiate tournament, by a 6-3, 5-7, 6-0, but the Braves won enough matches down the ladder to make up for the individual setback. The win over Tulane followed an easy one over the University of Virginia, with Larned downing the pride and joy of Charlottesville, Hal Burrows. Playing against Princeton once more, the Redmen took an 8-0 win and returned home to shut out

Virginia, 9-0, as Larned took the Virginia star. Duke felt the sting of the Braves' attack by a 9-0 score, and then the excellent North Carolina squad suffered a 7-2 loss at the hands of the Tribe just before the conference tournament. By this time, Bren Macken had been ruled ineligible and the Indians had lost his services for good.

William and Mary sent a well balanced team out to face the opposition during the regular season, with the top performer, Gardner Larned, holding down the number one slot, and Tut Bartzen and Fred Kovaleski each holding two and three for part of the season. Bren Macken played in the fourth slot until he was declared ineligible midway through the campaign. Others who played as part of the first six included Bob Doll, Bob Galloway, Howe Atwater, and Jim Macken. Lyman Chennault, George Fricke, Bill Ozenberger and Dick Randall also saw action at different times during the campaign. The team was strong enough to absorb defeats at either end of the ladder and still come out on top in the match. Their prowess gained them recognition all over the nation both for their exploits during the regular season and for the performances of the players during the summer months.

The Southern Conference Tournament evolved into a pleasant party for the Indians, with three members of the Big Green team reaching the singles semi-finals and Larned winning the championship. Bartzzen and Kovaleski also made the semis. Larned had to beat teammate Bartzzen to get into the finals, and it was a battle from the word "go" between the two oreats. The final outcome was a 1-6, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2 victory for Larned, and he went on to take another hard triumph from Vic Seixas in the finals, 8-6, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3. Bartzzen and Larned defeated Kovaleski and Atwater in an all-William and Mary doubles finals match.

At Los Angeles in June, the Indians piled up 10 points to cop the team championship, and the men gave excellent accounts of themselves all the way. Larned had to win over Harry Roche of San Francisco, Arthur Larsen of College of the Pacific, Clarence Mabry of Texas, Jimmy Evert of Notre Dame and Straight Clark of Southern California to reach the finals. He then proceeded to repeat his earlier win over Seixas of Carolina, 6-3, 9-11, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1 for William and Mary's first singles title. Bartzzen lost to Seixas in the fifth round 9-7, 6-3, after beating an old rival, Herbert Flam. Kovaleski had a Crack at Seixas in the semi-finals, but lost a 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4 verdict. As a result of the tourney Larned was placed first among college players with Kovaleski and Bartzzen fourth and fifth, respectively. Both the doubles teams of Bartzzen and Larned, and Kovaleski and Atwater lost, the latter pair advancing as far as the semi-finals.

Later in the summer, Kovaleski won the National Public Parks championship. In one of the most stunning upsets of the year, Larned and Bartzzen, playing doubles at an east coast tournament, turned on the steam to defeat Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder, probably the best amateur doubles combination in the world at the time. That duo had won the Davis Cup Championship by themselves the previous winter.

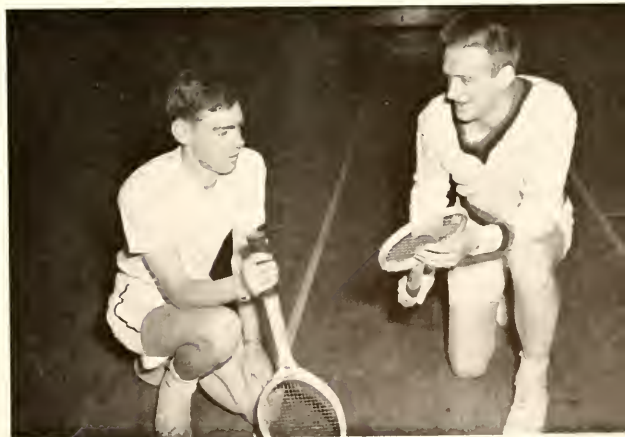

Although Larned decided to transfer to Rollins at the beginning of the 1947-'48 year, William and Mary still had a strong nucleus of Tut Bartzzen, who was elected captain, and Fred Kovaleski to build around. Other top men included Jim Macken, Howe Atwater, Bob Galloway, Bob Doll and a number of others who did not play as much as the first six during 1947. That group included Fricke, Chennault, Ozenberger, Randall and several others.

Other notable performers were Clyde Baker, Harrison Tyler, Dick Schofield, Max Staszsky, Garland Drake, Frank Deierhoi, Harry Wenning, Lou Hoitsma, Lou Creekmur, and Dick Reyrner.

Sigma Rho Intramural
Football Champions

I N T R A M U R A L S

Operating under the direction of Howard Smith, the William and Mary intramural program functioned to give the students an expansive and interesting calendar of sports for their participation. The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity won the overall intramural championship during the 1946-47 school year with 654 points against 600 for Sigma Rho. Kappa Alpha and Pi Kappa Alpha took third and fourth, respectively. A great amount of interest was shown in the intramural touch football competition which started the 1947-48 program off. After a long and spirited fight, Sigma Rho won the school football championship by beating out SAE and Pi Kappa Alpha in its own league, 13-0. Buck Kitchen was the outstanding player among fraternity teams, while Ted Uhler won a similar honor in the Independent loop. Ted Uhler took three first places in the intramural swimming meet to lead Pi Kappa Alpha to a decisive victory in pool competition. He won the 50-yard freestyle and 100-yard freestyle events, both for new pool records. Basketball competition was tough, too, with SAE and Sigma Rho battling right down to the wire; the former winning a playoff game by a comfortable margin, however, to take the crown. In this same field, Douglas Robinson of Sigma Rho won the free-throw tournament by dropping in 40 out of 50 shots from the foul line. Lyman Chennault won over Ted Forsey for the ping pong championship of the college in a playoff coupled with the fraternity basketball title game.

Reorganizing for the first time since 1942, the William and Mary swimming team was late starting and consequently had a poor first season, not winning any of the meets with the "Big Six" and other schools with which it participated. Ted Uhler was the bright light of the Indian pool season, taking two firsts in every dual meet on the schedule and posting some record times. In the first meet of the season in February, the Braves dropped a 60-15 decision to the Yellow Jackets of Randolph-Macon. Following that meet, the Braves lost to Norfolk Division swimmers, 57-18, and then dropped decisions to Virginia and Virginia Tech. In the state meet in Richmond, Uhler was not up to his usual form, taking only a single third place. Other men on the team who contributed points include Mark Waldo, Chuck Platt, Jack Kite, Eli Richards, Ken Bradley, and Bob Rothfeder, all swimmers, and Pete DeWitt and Frank Leary, who did the diving. Dr. Robert Schultz, coach, was unable to get the most from the team because of the late date of the start of practices, but he was able to find a nucleus of swimmers around whom the 1949 team could be built.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The purpose of the Women's Athletic Association is to provide a well-rounded program of sports to meet the needs of the women students, and to offer many opportunities along varied lines for both participation and recognition. All of the women students belong to the WAA, and the representative of the group is the Women's Athletic Council, of which Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts is chairman, and Miss Martha Barksdale and Miss Marion Reeder are faculty members. Dr. Caroline Sinclair is a member ex-officio. Student members are Jane Beatty, president; Virginia Murphy, point recorder; and Nicky Dillard, secretary. The activities sponsored by this group include a number of sports besides such competition as the bridge tournament. Intercollegiate competition is limited, and the program for women is centered around the intramural setup. Student head of intramurals this year was Martha Adams.

CO-ED BASKETBALL

William and Mary's women's basketball team went through an unsuccessful season during 1948, losing five contests. Members of the varsity team included the co-captains, Elaine Passow and Marty Adams, plus Frances Hawley, Vivian Darden, Mary Lou Hoover, Marian Hough, Fran House, and Molly Digges.

Much interest was shown in the intramural court league, with the Chi Omega team taking the championship in the playoff of the winners of the two leagues. They won over a previously undefeated Kappa Kappa Gamma team by a comfortable margin. Jane Oblender, Jimmie Murphy, and Jane Beatty were the outstanding players for the championship team, while Betsy DeVol, Barbara Humphrey, and Millie Riddle, the three Kappa forwards, were standouts in most of the games their team played.

CO-ED FENCING

The William and Mary fencing team held the first home matches in the history of the sport at Williamsburg this year, but did not play their most important matches until going to New York for the annual tournament held there. Coached by Dr. Caroline Sinclair, the women gave a number of excellent exhibitions. During December, the squad took part in an Alumni Fencing week end in which a number of former William and Mary students participated, also. Outstanding members of the squad included Jane Seaton, Elizabeth Ewart, Janet Pierce, and Sally Obitz. This was the second team following the reorganization of the sport at William and Mary during the 1946-47 school year.

William and Mary did not sponsor a swimming team this year, but the intramural tournament aroused much interest when it was run off in October. Kappa Alpha Theta took first place with Gamma Phi Beta coming in second, Kappa Kappa Gamma third and Chi Omega fourth. Jean Bevans of Theta took the 20-yard freestyle to start her team on the road to victory, and Betty Littlefield added a first place in the diving contest; the champions' relay team of Jane Seaton, Betty Littlefield and Jean Bevans took the 60-yard relay. Scoring points for the second place Gamma Phi team were Mary Wilcox, Charlotte Phillips, and Jane Rogers in the swimming events, and Barbara Simons in the diving competition. Celine Reinbrecht and Marnie Haynes did the scoring for Kappa, while Jane Oblender and Jimmie Murphy of Chi O contributed the points. Swimming in Blow Gym, the women ran off their meet before a capacity crowd.

CO-ED SWIMMING

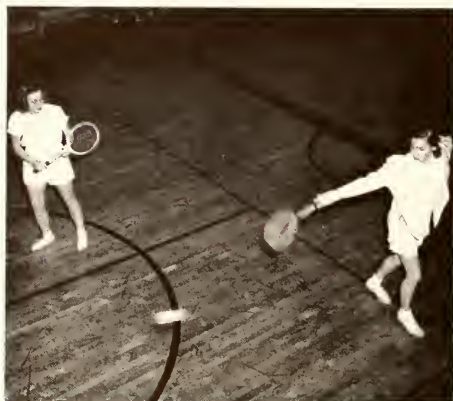

CO-ED TENNIS

William and Mary's women's tennis team posted victories right along with the men's team during 1947, winning consistently and proving it had some of the best players in the country. Perhaps the greatest individual achievement was the victory by Betty Coumbe in the Middle-Atlantic women's tournament, played indoors, at Philadelphia last May. For the victory, she defeated teammate Elaine Passow in the finals. In the summer tournament play, Pat Macken and Betty Coumbe represented William and Mary, and Betty won her first round match from Sara Moore, 6-0, 6-1, while Pat advanced by default. Both lost to their second round opponents. Besides the players already mentioned, outstanding players included Margie Oak, Jane Oblender and Ruth Barnes. The last two moved up for more extensive play during the 1948 season.

ORCHESIS

Miss Blanche Duffy directed Orchesis, which opened its 8th season by electing new members to the Dance Group.

Orchesis was originated by Margaret H. Doubler at the University of Wisconsin in 1917; the chapter at the College of William and Mary was founded by Grace Felker in 1940. Orchesis means in Greek "the dance," which was interpreted by the chorus in the Greek dramas.

Orchesis offers an opportunity for work in modern dance on a higher level. The choreography of each dance is created by the members. The annual recital was given in the spring. During the year other activities were concerts in Richmond and participating in the Arts Forum held at the University of North Carolina.

Officers were Peggy Ballentine, president; Jean Phillips, secretary; Dolores Curry, treasurer; and Jane Seaton, publicity chairman.
